Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination Information

By Order of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, an applicant must take the Multistate Professional Responsibility Examination (MPRE) and achieve a minimum scaled score of 75 in order to be admitted to the bar of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Currently, there is no time limit for taking the MPRE prior to sitting for the Pennsylvania bar examination. Applicants have up to three months after bar examination results are released to successfully pass the MPRE and have the official results transferred to the board office to ensure that their application can be processed within six months of the date on which their bar examination results were issued. If you do not submit the required materials for admission to the bar within this time frame for any reason, including the failure to pass the MPRE, you will be required to submit a Supplemental Application for Character and Fitness Determination, along with the required fee.

If you do not file a motion for admission to the bar within three years after the date your successful bar examination results were released, you must reapply for permission to sit for the bar examination, successfully retake the bar examination, and meet all other application requirements in effect at the time of application.

You must request that official notification of your MPRE score be sent directly to the board office from the National Conference of Bar Examiners. Unofficial scores will not be accepted. Completed application materials for testing, as well as other correspondence, inquiries, and requests concerning application materials and the administration and processing of the MPRE, should be directed to the following:
